

It's a rush, I'm fallin, so fast that I can't breath
I can feel it in my bones, my heart, my blood and teeth.
We could stay in bed for days and stay twisted up like pretzels.
I could kiss you head to toe and count up all your freckles.
We talk and I get lost, there's no place i'd rather be.
I'm trapped in side your cage and I'd hate if I got free.
Everything you do is more amazing than the last.
You're my present, you're my future, but to you I'm just your past.
It's a rush, I'm fallin, so hard that I can't stand.
But therein lies the problem, when you fall you have to land.
